RE: Public Water Interest Survey - Update

Dear Homeowner:

Previously we distributed Public Water Interest Surveys in your neighborhood. The survey was in response to requests for public water service. Recently we have received more requests regarding water service.

Pennsylvania-American Water (PAW) would like to update this interest survey. Once the surveys have been updated, we will determine if there is enough interest to support extending Public Water into your area and we will contact you to explain the next step.

We ask that you please take a few moments to complete and update our Public Water Interest Survey and return the survey by July 18, 2003 in the enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope.

Once again, some of the most commonly asked questions are described below:

- PAW is responsible for installing the main pipeline in the roadway and the service line from the mainline to the property line or curb line.
- Homeowner's responsibility includes installing a meter pit at the curb, the service line to the home and disconnecting your well system from the public water system. Wells can remain active for outdoor use but must be physically separated from the public water system.
- There are no connection or tap fees.
- There is one time $30 service activation fee included in you 1st water bill.
- Actual water usage billing on a monthly basis.
- Are homeowners required to connect to the water system? No. PAW cannot require you to connect to the water system. However, extending water service is contingent upon the number of homeowners who connect to the new water system.

Thank you for your time in considering this option and helping us in our evaluation process. If you have additional questions, please feel free to contact Mary Ann Royer at (717) 691-2121.

Sincerely,
Pennsylvania-American Water
